Oil & Gas: Have Russian And Norwegian Supplies Peaked?

Have we reached Peak Oil? Join Euan Mearns (the Oil Drum) as he interviews this selection of energy representatives from around the globe

Industry Interview

 Euan Mearns,
Editor, THE OIL DRUM
Following 8 years working in research at the University of Oslo, Euan Mearns returned to Aberdeen in 1991 and established a geochemistry analysis and consulting company which he ran until 2002. Since then he has worked as an independent energy analyst and for the last 2 years has written articles on energy for The Oil Drum Europe where he is now an editor.

 Rembrandt Koppelaar,
President,
ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY OF PEAK OIL & GAS
ASPO Netherland is the Dutch cluster of the Association for the study of peak oil & gas. An international organisation founded to study and increase awareness about the finiteness of non-renewable energy resources. Rembrandt's activities are mainly concerned with research on the outlook for future oil, gas and coal supplies and valorising the gained knowledge by means of public lectures, debates, interviews, press releases, larger events such as conferences and informal communications with politicians, business and citizens

Rune Likvern, PETROVALUE NORWAY

 Vladimir Feigin,
Director,
RUSSIAN INSTITUTE OF ENERGY & FINANCE

On Thursday 9th October I will be hosting a panel discussion on the security of European gas supplies including Rembrandt Koppelaar (ASPO Netherlands and The Oil Drum), Rune Likvern (Petrovalue and The Oil Drum) and Vladimir Feigin (Russian Institute of Energy and Finance).
